CHAPTER: 2
SESSION: 2015 Regular Session

TOPIC: Disaster relief
Analyst: Colbey Sullivan
Date: February 2, 2015

Overview

This act provides state disaster relief to eligible entities. It authorizes financial aid to eligible local governments and American Indian tribes; matches federal transportation dollars for road and bridge repair; and funds erosion, sediment, and water quality cost-share projects on private land. Eligibility for erosion, sediment, and water quality cost-share projects is limited to projects that benefit the 37 counties and three tribal areas included in Presidential Declaration of Major Disaster DR-4182 (June-July 2014 storms).

In 2014, the legislature established the disaster assistance contingency account to provide (1) matching money for Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) assistance to qualifying public entities in presidentially-declared major disaster counties, and (2) state disaster aid under a new state program that reimburses local units of government and American Indian tribes for eligible costs if the entities sustained significant damage but were not eligible for FEMA assistance. Under item (1), funds in the contingency account are available to assist eligible entities located in any presidentially-declared major disaster area – i.e., eligibility is not limited to the most recent major disaster.
