

Subject Agricultural land used for environmental purpose

Authors Hertaus and others

Analyst Jared Swanson (jared.swanson@house.mn)

Date March 22, 2019

Overview

H.F. 121 allows land to continue to qualify for agricultural classification even if the greater of three acres or ten percent of the total land area is used to serve environmental purposes such as buffer strips or retention ponds.

Effective beginning with assessments in 2019.