

Compensation Limits for Local Government Employees

What is the compensation limit for local government employees?

State law limits the compensation for an employee of a political subdivision to 110 percent of the governor's salary, with annual adjustments based on the Consumer Price Index (CPI). The current salary of the governor is $120,303. The compensation for an employee of a political subdivision cannot exceed 110 percent of that amount, which is $132,333, adjusted annually to reflect any increase in the CPI for all-urban consumers in the prior year. Minn. Stat. § 43A.17, subd. 9. As of January 1, 2011, the limit is $151,866. (For more information see the Minnesota Management and Budget website at <http://www.mmb.state.mn.us/comp-salarycap-waiver>).

This compensation limit applies to employees of statutory and home rule charter cities, counties, towns, metropolitan and regional agencies, and other political subdivisions. The compensation limit does not apply to school districts, to hospitals, clinics, or health maintenance organizations owned by a governmental unit, or to medical doctors and doctors of osteopathy.

What is included in "compensation"?

The statute specifies what is considered compensation for purposes of the limit. The statutory limit compares the compensation of political subdivision employees to the salary of the governor. For political subdivision employees, compensation includes certain benefits as well as salary. The statute determines what is included and excluded for purposes of the compensation limit.

Included

- All deferred compensation
- All direct and indirect items of compensation that are not specifically excluded by the statute (e.g., cash allowance for personal use of a car is included)

Excluded

- Benefits that are provided for the majority of all other full-time employees of the political subdivision, vacation and sick leave, health and dental insurance, disability insurance, term life insurance, and pension benefits
- Dues paid to civic, professional, educational, or governmental organizations
- Reimbursement for actual expenses that are directly related to the job

The statute contains a process and criteria for granting exemptions

The Commissioner of Minnesota Management and Budget (MMB) may increase the compensation limit for a position that the commissioner determines requires special expertise necessitating a higher salary to attract or retain a qualified person. In making this determination, the commissioner must consider salary rates paid to other people with similar responsibilities in the state and nation. Before granting an exception to the salary limit, the commissioner also must seek the advice of the Legislative Coordinating Commission.

Any increase must also be adjusted annually by any increase in the CPI from the prior year. Minn. Stat. § 43A.17, subds. 3 and 9. According to MMB, as of January 1, 2011, a local government may increase by 1.2 percent the compensation of an employee with an existing waiver for compensation to exceed $132,333. If the existing approved waiver amount is below $151,866, the local government may increase an employee's compensation to the $151,866 limit without a waiver.

The legislature has been addressing the issue of political subdivision salary caps since 1977

In 1977, the legislature provided that no political subdivision employee could be paid more than the Commissioner of Finance. The 1980 Legislature repealed the political subdivision salary cap. In 1983, the legislature enacted something similar to the current cap—compensation for local government employees was limited to 95 percent of the governor's salary. There have been various refinements to the law since 1983. Most significantly, in 1993 the legislature clarified what types of compensation are to be included when comparing a political subdivision employee's compensation to the governor's salary. In 2005, the legislature debated repealing the cap altogether but decided to increase the cap and allow for annual adjustments due to inflation.

There is a separate limit for state employees

The statute limiting political subdivision salaries does not cover state employees, but there is a separate limit for state employees. With very limited exceptions, no state employee may earn more than the head of the agency where the employee works. Minn. Stat. § 43A.17, subd. 1. State law assigns executive branch agency heads to two salary ranges, which are capped at 95 percent and 85 percent of the governor's salary. Minn. Stat. § 15A.0815, subds. 2 and 3. (These comparisons are based strictly on salary, not on total compensation.) The heads of the higher education systems are treated separately and are not limited by the governor's salary.
