Overview

H.F. 3979 provides additional funding for school-linked mental health grants targeted to applicant schools that provide services to students at a federal instructional level 4 school site. A student is receiving instruction in a federal instructional setting level 4 program when the student is in a separate school facility for more than 50 percent of the school day. Students in a level 4 program are often receiving services at a site operated by an intermediate school, Service Cooperative, or other cooperative unit.

There is an existing school-linked mental health grant program. Under current law, school-linked mental health grants are awarded by the commissioner of human services directly to the qualifying mental health providers who have arrangements with school districts to provide school-linked mental health services to students at those schools.

H.F. 3979 builds upon the existing school-linked mental health grant program and proposes additional school-linked mental health grants to qualifying providers providing services to students receiving educational services at a level 4 program.
