Dear Chair Youakim and Members of the House Education Policy Committee,

As I testified last week, the Coalition to Increase Teachers of Color and American Indian Teachers in Minnesota is very pleased that the proposed omnibus policy bill (HF163 DE3) includes several crucial policy proposals (i.e., Art. 1, Sec. 1, 2, 6; Art. 3, Sec. 1) to help close opportunity and achievement gaps while improving the recruitment and retention of teachers who more closely reflect the rich diversity of students and their families. These proposed policy amendments will help the state make good on its 2016 legislative commitment amending several statutes to ensure that our increasingly diverse students have more “equitable access to effective and diverse teachers.” These sections have been vetted in your committee several times as provisions also included in the 2020 Increase Teachers of Color Act (HF3201/SF4166) as well as the 2019 Increase Teachers of Color Act and 2019 House Education Omnibus bill.

These provisions included in HF163 DE3 were crafted over the past few years by the Coalition with extensive stakeholder feedback consistent with the Governor’s vision of “One Minnesota” that has generated a wide variety of endorsements from 50 organizations that often don’t agree on other issues (see attached bill summary with endorsements). In our politically divided times, we are also grateful these provisions have gained strong bipartisan support in both the House and Senate, with 33% of co-authors (n=6) in the House being Republicans, and 60% of authors in the Senate being Republicans, including Chair Carla Nelson.

The Coalition also supports other important policy proposals to ensure cultural responsiveness of teachers and principals and inclusion of American Indian communities (Art. 1, Sec. 3, 4; Art. 2, Sec. 2, 7; Art. 3, Sec. 5, 6). These additional provisions adopted from the Governor’s bill will also help close opportunity and achievement gaps while supporting the retention of teachers of color and American Indian teachers by working with colleagues and in systems that are responsive and respectful of students’ racial and ethnic diversity.

Some would say that the only focus in these challenging times should be directly related to addressing the pandemic. Because the pandemic is making clear the great racial and ethnic disparities that exist in education and the broader society, these provisions are more important than ever during the current crisis, as soon as it ends and for years to come.

Thank you for your leadership,

Paul Spies, PhD
