

March 08 2021

To Whom It May Concern, I do not see the need to have new constitutional language proposed. Under the current educational amendment, legal citizens already have the right to obtain quality public education. I believe that changing the verbiage could lead to infringement on people's rights and that is not the state's right nor should it be.

Sincerely,

Lisa Boog