null. I want to testify what I have experienced after having an abortion. I had an abortion in 1970, before it was legal in Minnesota. There were no ultrasounds given to see my baby. I found no support as a single mother and no one I spoke to, gave me the option of giving my baby to someone who could not have a child. As a result, I could not have children when it was the desire of my heart to be a Mom. It is a known fact that woman who have had abortions, have more hysterectomies. The damage abortion does to the womb, causes physical health issues. I also had breast cancer, more than once and there is proof that women who have abortions are more likely to have cancer. I found myself living with anger and rage that I didn't understand. There is visible proof of pro abortion activists acting out their anger, rage and hatred toward those who are pro life and becoming verbally and physically violent towards them. There are many babies that have survived being born very prematurely, proving that abortion is ending a human life. If a child has no voice on whether they can live or die, their destiny is aborted. What they were created to do on this earth is forever gone. Abortion is not something you can just do and never deal with. It is a known fact that woman grieve their miscarriages and they never forget their baby that died. I found myself grieving the death of my son, Benjamin, fifty years after my abortion. I chose to end his life, out of fear and lack of knowledge. Today, I realize I aborted a generation. I do not have my son, his children - my grandchildren and his children's children. Abortion is far from appropriate to be done as birth control, out of convenience or an option because you believe you can't afford a child or you're not ready to be a parent. I adopted a child and know there are many, many women who cannot have children and who deeply desire to be a Mother. We cannot continue to abort this generation and their future, without a valid medical reason. I am testifying the truth and I must give them a voice. They are saying, give me life, I have a destiny, here on earth & my generation needs me.
