Overview

This bill authorizes housing and redevelopment authorities (HRAs) to increase the number of commissioners by up to two additional members. The bill also increases the maximum allowable per diem for commissioners from $55 to $75 for meetings four hours or longer.

City HRAs currently are allowed five commissioners, while county HRAs may have either five commissioners or the same number of HRA commissioners as there are members of the county board. Multicounty HRAs are currently allowed to have either one or two commissioners for each political subdivision included; this bill would allow an additional commissioner from each political subdivision.

1 Commissioners. Authorizes city housing and redevelopment authorities (HRAs) to increase the number of commissioners from five to up to seven.

2 County commissioners. Authorizes county HRAs to appoint up to two additional commissioners to their boards.

3 Multicounty commissioners. Authorizes each political subdivision included in a multicounty HRAs to appoint an additional commissioner, so now there may be up to three per political subdivision.

4 Expenses; compensation. Increases maximum per diem from $55 to $75, except that per diems may not exceed $55 for a meeting shorter than four hours.
