Overview

This bill authorizes local jurisdictions to adopt the use of ranked-choice voting for local elections. A ranked-choice voting election permits voters to rank a number of candidates for office in order of preference, and the election results are tabulated in a series of rounds, eliminating candidates based on the strength of their rankings by voters, until the candidate(s) to be elected have received an established threshold of votes sufficient for election.

The cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul have both adopted ranked-choice voting procedures for their local elections through amendments to their city charters. In Minneapolis, the first ranked-choice voting election occurred in 2009. In St. Paul, the first election occurred in 2011.
